FW Program Student Learning Outcomes

At the end of the FYW course, students can:

1: Compose a text to achieve a specific purpose and respond adeptly to an identifiable audience.

2: Provide evidence of effective strategies for generating, revising, editing, and proofreading a text in order to produce finished prose.

3: Compose a text that makes use of sources that are relevant and reliable and that are integrated in accordance with a genre-appropriate style guide.

4: Compose writing that expresses the writer's viewpoint, from a narrative, cultural, or literary perspective and supplemented by other viewpoints as evinced by outside sources.
